Interest to Dec 1847.....

From Dec. 1, 1846, to Dec. 1, 1847, the railroad and bank can pay 280,000 From Dec. 1, 1847, to Dec. 1, 1848, the road and 252,000 in the above estimate the nett receipts of road are placed at only$200,000 per annumfor the next three years following December, 1845, when even for this year the nett receipt will be over that amount, and no allowance in favor of the company is made either for progressive increase of business, or for reductions of interest to be occasioned by payments running through the respective years. And only $152,000 of the assets of the company (independent of the road) are allowed to be realized in three years. If the debt of the company be paid from the earnings of the road by 1st December, 1848, then the stuckholders will own a road at a cost of $2,051,000, yielding, it may be fairly stated, at least ten per cent per

The receipts this year, so far as returns have been received, show a very great increase on the estimates, and also show that the debt will be paid of, in less time than

CHURCH ORGAN.!

THE attention of the writer was called to an article in your paper of last Saturday, relative to an Organ built by Mears. Hooks, of Boston, and recently erected and exhibited in Dr. Bellows' Church in Broadway. I was induced to attend this exhibition, supposing that an Organ procured with so much trouble and expense, might be very superior; but it is the opinion of those who are well qualified to judge in auch matters, that it is not worthy of the great praise bestowed upon it. The genilemen comprising the music committee of that church must certainly have been prejudiced in favor of Eastern manufacture a, when instruments far superior, both in tone and workmanship, are manufactured in this city. Take, for insarance, the one recently erected in Dr. Potts church, to which o gan that of Measre. Hooks will not bear comparison. There is a want of fulness and clearness in their instrument, which renders it both harsh and disagreeable. The chorus alops are voiced too loud for the Diapssons. The trumpet bas is particularly rough, while the treble is wanting in power and clearness of tone. The hautboy and cremon do not possess that equality and smoothness of tone necessary for a good imitation of those instr

GOODYEAR VS. DAY—ONCE MORE.

I HAVE a short answer to make to the long statement over H. H. Day's name. I affirm that the assertion that the sair is closed and dismissed from Court, is untrue. The suit is still pending, and, we less further put off by Day, will bee'brought to a hearing next term on its marits—a hearing which has not been had for want of time.

I have examined the original minutes of the Court, and have a copy of the order in the above cause, which fally sustains what I before stated, and state again—that the merits of said cause remain to be tried as soon as the same can be heard upon a motion to be renewed at the pleasure of the complainant.

This is notthe place to try the cause, although Day has been aiming at this by his advertusements and handbills for a year past. As the question between Goodyear and Day will soon come before the Court, and probably before a jury for investigation, it is improper to put before the public such statements as Day is constantly making. They are calculated, if not intended, to prevent a fair trial, and encourage others to pirate upon Goodyear's rights.

The public may form some estimate of Day's anxiety to drive this case to a hearing, by the fact that, although the defendant had notice of he filing of this bill or a about the lift of Augustlast, he did not even enter his appearance therein until the lith October inst.

I further state that, at the expiration of nearly a month's time permitted to Day to ont in affidavits in answer to the motion for injunction, Day asked for and obtained ten days further for that purpose, and this alsee prevented the plaintiff from bringing the motion to a hearing before the adjournment of court—And for the purpose of setting this matter forever at rest, and showing how much reliance as to be placed upon Day's contradiction of my former statements, and whether it was to Goodyear or Day

ALEX'R. GARDINER, Clerk. nisstatements over Day's name, I de The numerous other misstatements over Day - months of in this place stop to mention. WILLIAM JUDSON.

Solicitor for complainant Goodyear.

To this Public.—Goodyear vs. Day.—We at last have Day's confession that his statement that Goodyear's suit against Day had been closed and dismissed from the Court is untrue.

Day also now admits, so far as can be ascertained from his confused statements, that the motion for injunction has not been heard and decided upon its merits.

But the object of a part of Day's last communication seems to have been to show that the motion for injunction was actually made. This none sense is true. But in the sense first insisted upon its merita, is antrue, as stated by me in answer to Day's former statements, in language which has afforded occasion for the most shallow quibbling. Day still asserts "that he did not desire or cause the trial to be put off, and that he was ready for trial when the canse was first called up." This's as false for trial when the cause was first called up." This is as false as his other statements.

Day, by his own admission, had from the 25th of August till the 26th of September, to put in affidavits in opposition to the motion; and when the motion was on the latter day brought up. Day desired to go to bearing upon his own affidavit, it stating that he had a right to read affidavits in reply to the affida-motion; and when the motion was on the latter day brought up, Day desired to go to hearing upon his own affidavit, it is stating that he had a right to read affidavits in reply to the affidavitator complaint.

But, after an intimation from the Court that the complainant would have the right to reply, Day requested and obtained from the Court ten further days to put in saffidavits, thus taking more than forty days to put in has affidavits, and leaving the complainant but a week to go into different States to procure affidavit in reply.

It will be seen by reference to the minutes of the Court published by Day, that the whole time asked for by complainant previous to the expiration of the ten days extensed time, was from Friday rill Monday, to examine the affavit of defendant. It will, therefore, be perceived, that I am fully austamed in all my former statematis, and that it was Day and not Goodyear that delayed and put off the cause and prevented the hearing of the motion before the adjournment of the Court. The public who have read Day's statements will no doubt agree with him, "that it has been hard for him to fight," but they will probably attribute that to the cause in which he is engaged, not to the numbers against which he contends. The public, I am also convinced, have seen quite enough in this controversy to satisfy them that no relance can be placed upon Day's statements in the newspapers.

I ought not, perhaps, to dismiss this matter without a caution to Day not to rely too much upon Goodyear's past for bearance, mh is future statements in the newspapers, lest he provoke a feeling of indignation that may perhaps go beyond a mere public exposure

Solicitor for complainant Goodyear.

UNITED STATES COURT—Horace H. Day ads. Chas. For answer to the advertisement over the name of William Judson, solicitor complainant, the defend in refars the reader to facts, as published under his own name, exhibiting the truth in the matter, in the Tribune of Tneeday, Oct, 28th, and Express of Monday, 27th, and Wednesday,

MR. GOODYEAR

MR. GOODYEAR

WOULD respectfully call the attention of the public to the following statement of his Solicitor in regard to certain proceedings in the Court of Equity:—
Grouif Court of United States for Southern District of New York—In Equity.—C. Goodyear vs. H. H. Duy.—This bill was sworn to and filed August 12th, 1845, of which the defendant had due notice; but the defendant has not as yet put in any answer.

On August 26th, a notice of motion for injunction was given to be heard on the first Monday of September. On Tuesday, the 30th of September, the defendant filed his affidavit against the motion, claiming the right to read other affidavits in reply to such affidav its the plaintiff should file. But the Court informed defendant that he was at liberty to file what affidavits he pleased, and might have time, if he wished, but that the plaintiff would have a right to reply.

Upon this intimation from the Court, the defendant requested, and the Court granted him ten days within which to file his affidavits with liberty to the plaintiff to reply.

The Court closed on Friday next after the expiration of the ten days so allowed to defendant, so that the plantiff had not anticient time to procure affidavits in reply, as the witnesses resided at a distance, and in different States; and as the Court was about to adjourn, they dismissed the motion for injunction without a hearing, with liberty to plaintiff to renew the same, which would allow the plaintiff time to procure the necessary affidavits—courts to abide the event. A cecordingly the motion will be renewed again on the first day of the next term, (the sth Monday of November next.)

It will thus be seen how erroneous is the statement made in many of the city papers, that Mr. Goodyers' case has been decided against him. These facts are stated at the request of Mr. Goodyera, and those acting under his patents.

LATEST INTELLIGENCE.

Washington.
[Correspondence of the Herald.]
WASHINGTON, Oct. 29, 1845. Meeting Dr. Brand T. Archer, of Texas, this morning on the Avenue, he positively assured us that he had never witnessed a more charmingly bright and salubrious day on the banks of the Rio Grande. We shall transmit you at an early day, a chapter concerning Father Ritchie and the letter writers.

We learn that Lieut. Meade, U.S.N., who was lately here as a witness in the case of Lieutenant McLaughlin, was ordered off to New York last Monday, to report himself to Capt. Stringham, because the presence of said Lieut. Meade in this city, put a certain officer, (we forget his name,) in bodily fear.

It is said that the great tariff demonstration proposed at Pittsburg, was instigated by Mr. Buchanan. You will have learned of the death of E. S. Thomas, of Cincinnati, one of the oldest editors in the Union. We saw him some months ago in this city, when he said that he expected he would have soon to put his pen in the drawer, never to resume it again. The papers will give you the details of his interesting history. He was the tather of F. W. Thomas, of the Treasury department, author of various works of romance.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30, 184

There is no news of the slightest importance stirring to-day. The effect of the news by the Great Western. In will be seen by my report of the markets, has not yet been fully ascertained in our market.

The bell ringers had an overflowing house last night. Miss Deloy gives a concert here to night.

The trial of Edward R. Roberts, on an indictment for assaulting, and, in conjunction with five others, committing a rape on Margaretta Ehrman, was resumed yesterday, and the evidence for the prosecution opened.—George R Richardson, Eq. the Attorney General for the State, took the case in hand himself, and with his usual zeal and ability entered on the performance of his duty with a determination to punish the guilty or acquit the innocent, as the evidence might disclose in the progress of the trial. The Court-house was crowded to excess, and the jury were in the box at an early hour, who, I was pleased to see, are men of character and stability, who cannot be tampered with. The frequent escape of rogues, through the technicalities and other witchrafts of the law, when surrounded by influential friends, naturally beggts suspicion in the public mind in sil such cases; but 7s the jury in the present case are many of them fathers of interesting daughters, who were just as liable to be outraged as this friendless German girl, justice must and will have its course.

The principal witness, Margaretta Ehrman was called to the stand, and the whole day was occupied in taking her testimony, on account of giving it in German, and the time consumed in translating it. She testified in substance that the prisoner at the bar was the one that drew the knife on the young lad that was in company with her at the time of the assault, and that he subsequently was the second one in course that violated her person. Her conduct on the stand, and the reluctance with which she disclosed the facts of the case, created quite a favorable impression on the jury, as well as the numerous host of spectators present.

The trial will doubliess occupy t

Corn is also scarce. In the absence of transactions we continue to quote old Maryland white at 61 cts, and old yellow at 60 a 62 cents.

Oats are worth about 36 a 37c.

Stock Board.—The sales at the Stock Board yester-day was pretty heavy. Baltimore 6's sold at 101½ a 101½, and Maryland 6's at from 78½ to 78½.

The contested election cases were before Judge King all this morning, but no final decision has been made. though the Judge has intimated that the petitions centesting the election of the successful parties, are too vague in their allegations, and if permitted to have weight with the Court, will result in setting the deliberate count of some four or five hundred sworn officers of elections, of both parties, at naught, and of inducing every election that takes place in the cityand county, to be con-tested. A final decision was deferred till Saturday. One great difficulty, in ordering re-counts of the ballot boxes is, the danger that they may have been altered after they have left the hands of the judges and inspectors of elections. By act of Assembly these officers are so constituted, that each party is sure to have at least two persons tions. By act of Assembly these officers are so constituted, that each party is sure to have at least two persons at every poll, to watch every ballot box; no return can be made unless those two persons concur, and they must jointly with the other officers of election put their seals to the boxes in which the counted ballots are placed.—After all this is done, and the vote publicly declared, the ballot boxes are taken out of their possession and deposited with the nearest Alderman or Justice of the Peace. So it is clear that no fraud can take place until after the boxes are left with the Justice or Alderman. It is here that the law is defective, for, from the character, very frequently, of the magistrate, who is usually a partizan, from the fact also that he is not specially under oath to protect the boxes from descration, and is freed from the watchful supervision of a political opponent, but principally from the accessibility of unscrupulous partizans to the boxes, it is here that the mest glaring frauds can be perpetrated. The magistrates to whom the ballot boxes was committed after the result was announced at the late election, were chiefly those who were hostile to to the successful candidates, What was to have prevented them from allowing their political friends access to the boxes, by accident if you will, and thus permitting alterations to be made, by taking out the tickets of one party and replacing them by an equal number of those of the other, which would entirely reverse the result? Nothing whatever. And yet it is after such opportunities to fraud as this, that the natives ask the solemn returns of sworn election officers, of different parties, mutually watching each other, and presenting a complete check to any disposition seach might have to falsify the election, to be set aside, and the boxes recounted. I can secreely think that the Judges of the Quarter Sessions will permit any such thing.

The interesting trial of Capt. Thomas Duling, to which I referred a week ago, was brought to a conclusion at every poll, to watch every ballot box; no return can Effect of the News by the Great Western—Westher—Marals of Boston—Speculation in Railroad Shares—Pea Soup and Poe's Poetry, &c. &c.

The only material change caused in our market by the news received yesterday by the Great Western, was a trifling rise in flour, and produce generally. Genesoe has made an advance of one eighth, and as this is rather a moderate one, I think it will be permanent, notwithstanding the stock in this city is now very heavy. Holders sall freely at $6, best quality, and, firm at that rate. ders sell freely at $6, best quality, and, firm at that rate. There has been an attempt to advance on potatos, but the fact is there is an immense stock in this city, in spits of the hue and cry that has been raised of a short crop here and a short crop there.
